

Media diversity a must

In regard to the biennial review of media ownership rules I believe it is very important not to weaken the protections we now have against over centralization of media ownership. The interests of our democracy are best served by insuring a broad range of ideas and information. If any one corporation is permitted to control too much of the media our access to news and information will inevitably suffer.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Pliksa